

RSA Conference™ is bringing its RSAC CISO Boot Camp to Australian Cyber Conference Melbourne

RSAC CISO Boot Camp is an invitation-only gathering of CISOs and those on the path to becoming CISOs from a broad set of organisations around the globe. This closed-door, Chatham House Rule program delivers a unique and curated experience designed for maximum engagement. Launched in 2019, RSAC CISO Boot Camp content is delivered by experienced CISOs and industry experts, and attendees can expect quality presentations, inspiring conversations, and immersive hands-on learning with live simulations to help instil the skills needed to be successful – not to mention, plenty of networking with new peers on similar career trajectories, and experts with possible mentoring opportunities. For more information on the RSAC CISO Boot Camp, please visit:

<https://www.rsaconference.com/rsac-programs/ciso>

Quote from Britta: “RSA Conference is committed to advancing the education of the cyber community at large, a commitment that we know needs particular focus on the unique needs of new and up-and-coming CISOs,” said Britta Glade, Vice President, Content & Curation, RSA Conference. “We’re excited to bring the RSAC CISO Boot Camp to such a prestigious event as AISA. The ability to partner together to help this critical group of rising leaders cultivate deep, meaningful relationships through the educational and networking experience provided can’t be overstated for the positive long-term development of the industry.”

Quote from Damien: “AISA is proud to partner and work with RSA Conference to bring the RSAC CISO Boot Camp to Australia to help build the next generation of cyber security leaders”, said Damien Manuel, Chairperson of AISA and Australian Cyber Conference program director. “This partnership and event marks an important milestone in building a safer nation and community by ensuring existing and aspiring leaders in Australia gain access to diverse global knowledge and experiences”.

About RSA Conference™

RSA Conference™ is the premier series of global events and year-round learning for the cyber security community. RSAC is where the security industry converges to discuss current and future concerns and have access to the experts, unbiased content and ideas that help enable individuals and companies advance their cyber security posture and build stronger and smarter teams. Both in-person and online, RSAC brings the cyber security industry together and empowers the collective “we” to stand against cyberthreats around the world. RSAC is the ultimate marketplace for the latest technologies and hands-on educational opportunities that help industry professionals discover how to make their companies more secure while showcasing the most enterprising, influential and thought-provoking thinkers and leaders in cyber security today. For the most up-to-date news pertaining to the cyber security industry visit www.rsaconference.com. Where the world talks security.

About AISA and the Australian Cyber Conference

The Australian Information Security Association (AISA) is the national peak body for cyber security professionals in Australia. AISA champions the development of a robust information security sector by building the capacity of professionals, advancing the cyber security and safety of the public as well as businesses and governments in Australia. Australia’s largest cyber security conference, known as the Australian Cyber Conference, is run by AISA and brings the cyber security community together to network, learn and exchange ideas. For more information visit: www.aisa.org.au and www.cyberconference.com.au